

Alloys Meshack, CEO Sendy

Entrepreneur, passionate about open technologies with a focus on mobile emerging technologies, logistics and mobile payments - Currently Founder and CEO at Sendy Ltd a technology company that provides a logistics platform that connects small businesses with local delivery drivers to make logistics simple and transparent. We do this through a mobile and web application.

We answer this fundamental question in Africa: 'How do you move products from point A to B?' Very ambitious! And I believe it will create new possibilities for small businesses and individuals across Africa.